

PRIVATE GERMAN INSTRUCTION FOR ADULTS

Personal

At the beginning of every language training, I try to get to know my clients with regard to learning objectives, special interests and learning preferences. After an analysis of their language levels and learning types, I develop an instruction plan in collaboration with my clients and according to the information I gained during the first encounters.

Comprehensive and flexible

Teaching material includes newspapers, stories, text books as well as podcasts. Grammar teaching is an integrative part of every lesson. If clients want to become more confident in handling certain routine activities in German, those activities can be exercised together as well. Teaching time is very flexible.

As a follow-up service after class, I make all texts available as audio-files, spoken and recorded by myself, so that learners can enhance not only their reading- but also their listening-comprehension.

Remuneration

My background

I have been teaching German in an international language school for several years, giving language training to individuals, diplomats and corporate groups. Thanks to my former working experiences in international affairs and development cooperation, I have a high intercultural understanding and routine in working with people from different cultural backgrounds. My teaching is guided by empathy and a passion for language and communication.
